

WHAT IT IS

THE TRUTH, SHORT AND SWEET

When we asked him what truths he holds (in 200 words or less) Justin Dart called that “extremely difficult” and said, “My current statement on what I believe is 46 pages long.” He and a few other readers did find a way to condense their truths. Some, like Jake Skidmore at right and Amanda Zittle on our cover, have our truth written all over their faces. The gathered truths begin PAGE 14

PHOTO BY P. SUE KULLEN

ON OUR COVER: AMANDA ZITTLE OF BEL AIR, MARYLAND. PHOTO BY P. SUE KULLEN

‘IF IT AIN’T ACCESSIBLE, IT AIN’T MY REVOLUTION.’ 10

Yes, this issue is very late. Honest, we didn’t think there’d be another. Mouth was drowning in crisis when beloved readers jumped in to keep her head above water. 42

‘TAKE IT PERSONALLY’ 20

SHE SAYS CASE MANAGERS ‘ARE LIKE MONKEYS WITH HAND GRENADES’ 39

WATCHING A BODY TALK 47

UP NEXT

HELPING HANDS

Once we’re at their mercy, they love to point out what we should and especially shouldn’t be up to. Join us next Mouth for fun in Helping Handland.

